NOTICES OF RECENT BOOKS.

I have already conducted the reader through half the first volume of "Mythologie des Plantes," by Mons. Angelo de Gubernatis. Let us now try and finish our tack. One blemish, already referred to, meets us again. Speaking under the heading of FLEURS the author remarks "La fleur n'a pas été soulement admirée à cause le sa beauté, qui en fait la gemme da monde yégétal; on l'a de tout temps vénévés comme symbole de la fecondité." Granted that in some cases it is so, how many thousands there are on whose minds such an idea never dawns. But overlooking the fact that the author pushes this idea too prominently before us, we must again commend served in the 3rd Division of the Naval Brigade | the diligence which he displays in accumulating matter of the greatest interest for the mythologist and folklorist. Much of the matter is interesting | lumes have been written. Thus the Chinese are not so peculiar in their customs as we have been apt to suppose. There are many other subjects I should like to have dwelt upon more fully. I must only refer to one or two in conclusion. On p. 289, we are told that Opium is called in Sanskrit " ahiphena, au come de serpent"; a question we may discuss another time. The notes on Paradise, also (p. 261), will repay study when we come to treat of the subject in some future notes on Plant Lore. I notice but one other reference to Chinese matters. IMPERIAL QUARTO. ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY. WITH THE PURTI AND MANDARIN

For comprehensiveness and practical services this Work stands unrivalled All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are Goods received on STORAGE at Moderate here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being earsfully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins brated Brands Threlfall's Export PALE and vacant spaces which have heretofore charac-

following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers' Vecabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English PAGNE in cases of 2 doz. Pints and 1 doz. and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese charac-[271 ters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applinoxious, and fail in giving antistaction. Sold to communicate effectively with natives who 1841 understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted To parties resident in England and interested file at the Office of L. P. Fisher, who is author Is the best medium for Advertising among the in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-

It is requested that the letters be posted if possible at least one day before the date fixed for sailing

LOCAL AND INDIAN PARCEL POST. 1.-Small Percelsmay be sent by Post at Book Rates between Hongkong and any of the British Post Offices in China, as well as to Japan, Macao, Pakhoi, the Straits Settlements, and India, They must not exceed the following dimensions, 2 feet long, I foot broad, I foot deep, weigh more than 51hs., nor be smaller than 3 in, by 2 in, by 2 in. Such parcels may be wholly closed if they bear this special endorsement. Parcel, containing no letter, but any parcel may be opened by direction of the Postmaster General. In the Case of Percels for India a declaration of contents and value is required, a printed form for which is supplied gratis. The Registration of Parcels for India is compulsory.

TEA MUSTERS. Persons who send Musters of Tea through the Post in Tins are requested to have them made flat or square instead of round, as it is impossible to pack round time securely in the mail bags. It is believed that the tea will travel more safely in flat time, which are not so liable. as round ones to be bulged in. 4 by 8 by 11 inches is suggested as a good sise. The tins should not have sharp corners.

CONTENTMENT. O, say not man's faith is a flower That lives but a day, and is past; A star which gives light but an hour, A sky that is soon overcast: There may be such men, it is true,

'And ladies may be much the same; But those are not like me and you; O, no; our love's more than a mane. My cottage, though small, is my own, Tis shaded by woodbine and tree;

I wish for thy sake 'twore a throne, O, proudly I'd share it with thee. 'Tis humble yet not very poor, And would'st thou but yield thy consent, Thou would'st feel, if thou lov'st me, I'm sure, The gold of the earth is content.

GOOD STORY OF PRINCE LEOPOLE The London correspondent of the Western Daily Press says :- A good story is being whispered in the salouns of society. The Duke of Albany and the Princess Helene paid a visit to a celebrated London photographer, to whom they gave two sittings. The first was de riqueur. The photographs taken during the second sitting were, however, intended for family circulation only. arm around the waist of his betrothed, Rates. her head resting upon his shoulder. Unfortunately the Royal commands either misunderstood or forgotton, and the photographs intended for family circulation and the Court of Waldeck were issued to the trade along with those intended for her Majesty's lieges. The error was discovered, however, and the partraits depicting the human love of Prince Leopold and Princess Helene have been called in. Only very few have got into circulation.

"Well, if you must know, Monsieur," snewered the CAPITAL (FULLY SUBSCRIBED), $1,000,000 man in charge, "I judge by your appearance that your life will not be a long one and my proprietor cannot afford to have a funeral on the premises."

A STORY OF BARTOLOZZI. There is a story told of him and Lord Craven which is worth repetition. He was and the busband of the beautiful and clever Lady Elizabeth Berkeley, who afterward became Margravine of Anspach, to make an engraving from an East Indian design, for which his lordship agreed to give him two hundred pounds. Bartolozzi thought it a hard bargain, but as Lord Craven was by way of being a noble patron of art, and "his very good friend," undertook the work. Everything was arranged; the engraver was to work in the house, and dine at my lord's table. My lord speedily displayed his bad manners and that brutality which made him the scoff of his peers until he departed this life to the great comfort of everybody belonging to him. The first day, after the On Coals ...... at 1 /. Net per Annum: bottle had passed, be showed the engraver. On Petrolsum in liinto the working room, and there left him.
